Hey, Chris. I'm sorry for the delayed response. I was trying to connect and confer with my editor and our courts reporter Dan Sullivan about this. It's not something we can jump on at this point given our staffing and story load, so please don't wait for us to reach out to other outlets. But please do keep us posted on any developments that you think we should know about, if possible.

Thanks again for reaching out and for your patience with us.

Tony

Hey man. I hate to be a pain. I'd really appreciate you responding with whether yall are interested vs stumbling block vs normal process. I need to reach out to other reporters here soon and I'm not sure if that will present an issue if yall are still looking at it. Thanks for any response u can offer.
