for his minor children [8 years old] and [6 years old],

MOTION FOR IMMEDIATE ISSUANCE OF ALTERNATIVE WRIT OF MANDAMUS

AND FOR EXPEDITED HEARING

Plaintiff/Petitioner Christopher Hanson, individually and as attorney for himself and attorney/next friend, moves this Court for issuance of an alternative writ of mandamus and for an expedited hearing pursuant to Florida Rule of Judicial Administration 2.420(l) (providing for expedited review of denials of access to judicial branch records), Article I, Section 24 of the Florida Constitution (constitutional right of access to public records with presumption of openness), and the general principles governing mandamus proceedings under Florida Rule of Civil Procedure 1.630. In support, Petitioner states:

1. On October 14, 2025 (e-filed October 15, 2025), Petitioner filed his Verified Petition/Complaint for Writ of Mandamus, Declaratory Relief, and Attorney's Fees, seeking to compel production of judicial and administrative records unlawfully withheld by Respondents. These records pertain to judicial bias, corruption, and misconduct in the underlying family law case (Case No. 24-DR-001150), which directly impacts the welfare of Petitioner's minor children.
2. On November 13, 2025, Petitioner filed his Amended Verified Petition/Complaint, adding defendants, updating factual allegations of ongoing cover-up efforts, and reiterating legal bases for relief under Article I, Section 24 of the Florida Constitution and Florida Rule of Judicial Administration 2.420. The Amended Petition specifically invokes Rule 2.420(l) for expedited review and seeks vacation of any confidentiality determinations (although none identified by Respondents). While the original Petition references Chapter 119, Florida Statutes, the Amended Petition emphasizes that access to judicial records is more directly governed by Rule 2.420 and the constitutional presumption of openness, particularly where evidence of systemic corruption exists as alleged herein (and Petitioner/Plaintiff argues for extension of Chapter 119 to these issues despite Times Publishing Co. v. Ake, 660 So. 2d 691 (Fla. 1995), holding judicial records access under judicial rules).
3. The petition and amended petition were served on the defendants via email on October 14, 2025 and November 12, 2025. Summonses were issued and served on all Respondents on December 19, 2025, via the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Office, as confirmed by the docket entries and service returns (attached hereto as Composite Exhibit A: Service Confirmations for Respondents Thirteenth Judicial Circuit Court, Chief Judge Christopher C. Sabella, Judge Kelly Ayers, Judge Matthew Felix, and Gina Justice/Current Court Administrator). None of the defendants have done anything to comply with their statutory duties since receiving notice in October.
4. There are concerning, undisputed allegations of corruption amounting to "unconscionable schemes" both in the divorce litigation which necessitated the public records request and in the actions the 13th Circuit Court took in responding to the public records request. Ramey v. Haverty Furniture Cos. Inc., 993 So. 2d 1014 (Fla. 2d DCA 2008). The gross misconduct in responding to the public records request all but destroys any public confidence in the 13th Circuit Court. Timely and transparent handling of this lawsuit is paramount for public confidence in the entire Florida Judicial system.

5. The unrefuted facts already show that the 13th Circuit has intentionally violated the constitution and the Judicial rules, and more concerning, engaged in dishonesty and bad faith discovery tactics (in order to conceal relevant, requested records while producing irrelevant records for hearings not requested). The case law relevant to fraud on the Court is a reasonable, logical, and necessary consideration of these facts that demonstrate discovery violations so egregious, they amount to “fraud from the Court.”
6. The Courts offering controlling authority have already condemned this type of concealment, obfuscation, and bad faith non-compliance with severe consequences like dismissal or sanctions to deter systemic corruption (when it involved an attorney and represented litigant. See Bainter v. League of Women Voters of Fla., 150 So. 3d 1115 (Fla. 2014), reversing a protective order for improper concealment of evidence amid corruption allegations, and Ramey v. Haverty Furniture Cos. Inc., 993 So. 2d 1014 (Fla. 2d DCA 2008), affirming dismissal for fraudulent concealment and criticizing "unconscionable schemes" that hamper fair adjudication.
7. Respondents have produced large volumes of irrelevant material while withholding the specific hearing records requested. This pattern of “document dumping” is consistent with concealment rather than compliance, particularly regarding the December 13, 2024 and January 9, 2025 hearings, where the missing footage and communications raise serious concerns about irregular proceedings and improper withholding. The fact that the misconduct in the public records request handling corresponds with misconduct in the underlying case (the 12-13-24 and 1-9-25 hearings involving severe due process violations).

8. To date, Respondents have filed no response, return, or other pleading, despite the passage of ten days since service. The 20-day response period under Florida Rule of Civil Procedure 1.140(a) expires on January 8, 2026. However, there is no reason to wait on formally entering the writ at least requiring compliance or compelling defendants to provide a written explanation for their non-disclosure and associated conduct alleged in the pleadings.
9. The Petition and Amended Petition are facially sufficient, establishing: (a) Petitioner's clear legal right to access the requested judicial and administrative records under Article I, Section 24 of the Florida Constitution and Rule 2.420 (presumption of openness absent justified exemption); (b) Respondents' ministerial duty to produce or justify withholding such records; and (c) no adequate remedy at law, as the withholding perpetuates harm in the underlying case, including suppression of evidence of marital assets and misconduct affecting the children's welfare. See Fla. R. Civ. P. 1.630(d)(2) (court shall issue alternative writ if petition shows prima facie case for relief).
10. Expedition is warranted under Rule 2.420(l), which mandates "expedited review" for denials of access to judicial records. The constitutional right to transparency (Art. I, § 24) further demands prompt action to prevent irreparable harm from continued concealment, especially amid allegations of systemic corruption (as detailed in the Amended Petition, pp. 2-3, invoking extension of access principles where insider protectionism is evident). Delays undermine public confidence in the judiciary and prolong unnecessary litigation in Case No. 24-DR-001150.
11. Issuance of an alternative writ is appropriate to compel Respondents to produce the records or show cause why the writ should not issue. See State ex rel. Glynn v. McNayr, 133 So. 2d 312 (Fla. 1961) (mandamus proper to enforce clear legal right to public records access).

WHEREFORE, Petitioner respectfully requests this Court:

(a) Issue an Alternative Writ of Mandamus directing Respondents to immediately produce the requested records or show cause within [7] days why the writ should not be made absolute, including detailed explanations on the surveillance system and video, the balance between public interest and the Court's security (should evidence demonstrating the camera's formal role in the Court's security system and exclusion from the Court's system for Hearings), the document dumping, concealment of records on the 12-13-24 and 1-9-25 hearings, and the other issues and misconduct alleged in the petition and amended petition described above;

(b) Set an expedited hearing on this Motion and the Petition to occur within [14] days;

(c) Award attorney's fees and costs under any applicable basis, including as described in the pleadings and where bad faith withholding is shown; and

(d) Grant such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.

Verification:

Under penalties of perjury, I, Christopher Hanson, the Petitioner herein, declare and certify that I have read the foregoing Verified Petition/Complaint for Writ of Mandamus, Declaratory Relief, and Attorney's Fees (including all exhibits and attachments thereto), and that the facts stated therein are true and correct to the best of my knowledge, information, and belief.
