IN AND FOR HILLSBOROUGH COUNTY, STATE OF FLORIDA
FAMILY LAW DIVISION

In re: the Marriage of:

SARAH HANSON,

Petitioner,

and

CHRISTOPHER HANSON,

Respondent.

Case No.: 24-DR-001150

Division: D

ORDER ON PETITIONER'S MOTION TO COMPEL DISCOVERY GRANTING IN PART

THIS MATTER came before the Court on February 12, 2025, upon Wife's Motion to Compel Discovery [DIN 30]. Present before the Court was Petitioner, Sarah Hanson ("Wife"), her attorney, Scott Paul Davis, Esq., B.C.S., and Respondent, Christopher Hanson ("Husband"), who represented himself pro se. The Court having reviewed Wife's Motion to Compel Discovery and the court file, entertained argument, and being otherwise fully advised in the premises, FINDS as follows:

- A. On December 2, 2024, counsel for Wife sent a good faith letter to former counsel for Husband identifying documents that counsel for Wife believed were missing from Husband's mandatory disclosure production. The good faith letter was attached to Wife's Motion to Compel Discovery as "Exhibit A."
- B. On December 13, 2024, Wife filed her Motion to Compel Discovery.
- C. On December 18, 2024, Husband sent an email to counsel for Wife stating in relevant part that "some of the records had to be mailed," "he never went to either attorney's office to get them scanned," and he "will try to find the record and get them scanned in or mail [the undersigned] copies."
- D. On January 7, 2025, Husband sent an email to counsel for Wife stating in relevant part "I did find the records that had to be mailed to me. That should take care of the motion to compel. It's a large stack of records and I do not have a good scanner. Is there a time that I can drop them off and have someone scan the records in and then pick up the paper copies from your office?”

- E. As of the hearing on Wife’s Motion to Compel Discovery, Husband has not provided counsel for Wife any of the documents identified in the motion.
- F. Wife’s Motion to Compel Discovery included a request for an award attorney’s fees, costs, and suit money.

Based upon the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED and ADJUDGED as follows:

- 1. Wife’s Motion to Compel Discovery is granted in part;
- 2. Husband has until February 26, 2025, to either:
 - a. Comply with Fla. Fam. L. R. P. 12.285 (e) and provide the documents identified in Wife’s Motion to Compel to counsel for Wife; or
 - b. File an objection regarding the production of the documents identified in Wife’s Motion to Compel; ~~and~~ with a specific objection/response for each and every Paragraph.
- 3. The Court reserves jurisdiction to consider Wife’s request for an award of attorney’s fees, costs, and suit money.
- 4. All Orders not specifically modified herein shall remain in full force and effect.

DONE and ORDERED in Chambers at Tampa, Hillsborough County, Florida.
