(Email body as sent. The three attachments are not included in this copy.)

Mr. Kelley:

The Bar closed both of my complaints against Scott Davis on the ground that the issues belonged in the pending family case. That was incredibly frustrating because I'd taken the issues to the family court judge, who pointed to the Florida Bar.

Perhaps you can imagine my surprise when I received the Davis complaint (signed days after my second complaint against him), which required a response from me. Davis had the opportunity to raise concerns about my allegations in the family court many times. He intentionally avoided having the veracity of my complaints tested. He didn't even attend the January 9, 2025 withdrawal rehearing, where I sought examination of his conferences with my former lawyers.

My complaints against Davis were verified under penalties of perjury. The Bar was on notice of my sworn factual allegations and their supporting records. I stand behind those allegations.

Davis also signed his complaint under penalties of perjury. My response identifies false statements in that sworn account, including his placement of the Bar subpoena ruling at a hearing where it did not occur. I ask the Bar to investigate those statements, determine whether he made them knowingly, and pursue disciplinary accountability, in addition to the accountability I sought in my previous Bar complaints.

The response explains why I regard his complaint as part of a retaliatory course involving obstruction of financial disclosure, guardian ad litem (GAL) and psychological-evaluation motions, and attacks on my efforts to expose misconduct. It also documents the parallel failures of the Bar and the courts relating to my attempts to obtain oversight of Davis's conduct from both institutions. I continue to have serious concerns about Florida's ability to handle this matter in good faith. The basis for those concerns is set out in the attached response.

Please answer the following in writing:

1. What is the status of Director review of my second complaint, RFA 26-13570? Has the Bar requested Davis's response to either complaint? What investigative steps has it taken on each complaint? Has the Director issued a review decision on RFA 26-13570? Please provide any decision.

2. Will the Bar apply its stated court-forum ground to Davis's complaint, or require his response to my complaints and investigate the conduct I reported?

3. Will staff counsel assign this matter to counsel who had no role in the handling of my complaints, the Bar Recipients' motion to quash my subpoenas, or Judge Ayers's complaint against me?

4. In the Ayers matter, File 2026-10,395(13F), what is the status of the three-to-four-hour sworn statement you proposed? I accepted and renewed my availability multiple times. Identify each statement the Bar contends is false and the evidence of falsity. Why is that complaint still pending?

5. What is the basis for requiring me to respond to a complaint about my statements when the Bar required no response from Davis to my first complaint about the misconduct I described? If the Bar has required his response to my second complaint, identify when it did so and provide that response. If it has not, explain why my sworn allegations and supporting records did not warrant requiring his response while his allegations warranted requiring mine.

6. Please preserve all records, communications, electronically stored information, and devices relating to my complaints against Davis, Davis's complaint against me, Judge Ayers's complaint against me, and the handling, review, assignment, timing, and coordination of those matters. This includes communications within the Bar and with Davis, judges, court personnel, outside counsel, and any other person concerning me, my litigation, my complaints, my public-records requests, or decisions about when to open, advance, refer, close, or demand a response in these matters. Preserve email, text and instant messages, collaboration-platform messages, social-media messages, call logs, voicemail, recordings, calendars, notes, drafts, attachments, audit and access logs, metadata, deleted items, archives, cloud data, and backups, whether maintained in official or personal accounts or on official or personal devices used for those communications or decisions. Preserve all relevant computers, phones, tablets, servers, storage media, and other hardware, including retired or replaced devices. Suspend automatic deletion, message expiration, backup rotation, wiping, factory resets, disposal, and any other process that could alter or destroy relevant information. Preserve native files, original metadata, and recoverable deleted data. Before any relevant device is replaced, reassigned, repaired, or taken out of service, preserve its relevant contents and forensic data and retain the original device wherever necessary to preserve evidence. This request specifically includes records concerning the choice and timing of the complaint and response demand, including any consideration of my pending hearings, deadlines, or other known circumstances. Please circulate this preservation request to all relevant custodians, including outside counsel and service providers, and confirm in writing the preservation steps taken, the custodians and systems covered, and any relevant information or devices already lost, deleted, overwritten, or disposed of.

Please confirm receipt of all three attachments and forward the reassignment request to staff counsel. My response also requests disclosure and preservation of the related communications.
