

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE THIRTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR HILLSBOROUGH COUNTY, FLORIDA
FAMILY LAW DIVISION

IN RE: THE MARRIAGE OF SARAH HANSON,
Petitioner, and
CHRISTOPHER HANSON,
Respondent.

Case No.: 24-DR-1150

Division: A

FORMAL OBJECTION TO WIFE'S NOTICE OF HEARING, MOTION FOR SANCTIONS, and REQUEST FOR FINDINGS OF FACT and FORMAL REQUEST FOR INVESTIGATIONS ON ATTORNEY, JUDICIAL, AND FLORIDA BAR MISCONDUCT

COMES NOW the undersigned, pro se, and respectfully objects to the October 9, 2025 hearing unilaterally scheduled in bad faith by Wife and her counsel, Scott Davis. The undersigned further moves for sanctions against Wife and Mr. Davis, and requests that the Court finally confront and address the entrenched pattern of ethical violations permeating this case, as documented extensively throughout the record. This filing demands immediate accountability for the egregious misconduct that has poisoned these proceedings, inflicted severe harm on the children, and eroded public trust in the judicial system.

I. The record unequivocally demonstrates over a year of escalating misconduct from Davis, Ayers, and Husband's former attorneys, all in service of a deliberate strategy to delay, harass, obstruct justice, and conceal critical evidence through dishonesty and unfounded attacks; and more recently, with active complicity from the 13th Circuit and the Florida bar aimed at covering up this obvious and harmful systemic corruption.

1. The allegations herein and throughout the record tell the story of how the 13th Circuit allows the whims of the powerful to control over the welfare of families. Unrefuted evidence reveals a brazen pattern of dishonesty, procedural manipulation, and ethical breaches that have stalled resolution while causing intense and unnecessary conflict and damage.
2. The only emergency in the case is the one that Mr. Davis and the 13th Circuit have actively sought to suppress, the starting point for all the dishonesty and misconduct herein. Docket #22, 59 , 60, 72,120, describe the initial and first quarter concerns Husband had about misconduct and corruption as it became increasingly apparent.
3. Back in May of 2024, Husband had some idea that his simple request for information about what was happening to Wife's marital income the last few difficult years of marriage, (during which she concealed that income in a separate personal account), could get out of control if an attorney did not act on his behalf efficiently.
4. The filing at Docket #22 reflects that level of concern and desperation to accomplish this discovery issue and quickly and efficiently resolve this period of conflict.
5. No one could have ever realized just how bad it could get, and the reason for that is 100 percent identifiable and even obvious in this very open record – attorney and judicial misconduct – well-documented now for over a year.
6. The responsible actors discussed herein were placed on notice throughout their involvement of Husband's singular goal and the impact delays were causing on the children and general welfare.
7. They are each well aware that resolving the financial discovery would initiate resolution of the other issues which Davis gradually added as a clear pattern of retaliatory litigation without any basis for reality. See Table at Exhibit A (attached, pp.15-18) from appellate Response to Wife's motion to lift stay outlining misrepresentations Wife must make to the appellate Court in desperation.
8. The instances of misconduct from those involved, tedious, and consistent that it's impossible to reveal the full extent of misconduct and evidence of corrupt motives even in a lengthy pleading like this.
9. Despite the undersigned's background as an attorney and the retention of two separate law firms—each of which initially assured that the discovery issues were straightforward, reasonable, and resolvable—these core concerns remain unaddressed after a year and a half, at immense cost and detriment to all parties, especially the children. This delay is not accidental; it is engineered, and worse, there are layers of inaction and rule and public records violations that demonstrate an intent to cover up this misconduct.

10. The undersigned has repeatedly accused key actors in the 13th Judicial Circuit—including Mr. Davis, his former attorneys, and Judges Ayers—of serious misconduct, united by at least loosely aligned goals to silence legitimate challenges and perpetuate an obvious injustice. These individuals have shielded one another from accountability for their overt and indefensible actions, all to the devastating harm of the undersigned and the children.
11. Most alarming is the routine, cavalier entitlement with which these corrupt actors operate within the 13th Circuit's Family Law Division. Florida's legal profession faces a profound corruption crisis, and this case exposes it in stark detail—particularly since the undersigned has waived attorney-client privilege to lay bare the full truth. Systemic reform is not optional; it is imperative for the welfare of this family and every family navigating Florida's courts. The undersigned will persist in this pursuit, employing direct and unflinching language to demand results where diplomacy has failed.

I.A. MR. DAVIS'S HISTORY OF INTENTIONAL ETHICAL VIOLATIONS, AS DETAILED THROUGHOUT THE RECORD, DATING BACK TO THE UNDERSIGNED'S 57.105 LETTER ON SANCTIONABLE CONDUCT (DOCKET #59) AND FORMAL NOTICE OF INTENT TO SEEK SANCTIONS (DOCKET #60)

7. Mr. Davis has exhibited a relentless, willful pattern of misconduct engineered to delay proceedings, harass the undersigned, and with the ultimate goal of concealing vital evidence – the same evidence that Husband sought as his singular objective in this matter from his desperate first filing in May of 2024 (Docket #22).
8. Husband's story has never changed.
9. Despite waiving any attorney client privilege, no one has produced any evidence to suggest any improper motive or action coming from Husband other than vague, utterly false and conclusory allegations that consistently fall apart under brief scrutiny.
 - Failure to Expedite Litigation: Mr. Davis disregarded Rule 3.2 by utilizing tactics that extend legal proceedings, such as delaying document production, strategic tactics to delay scheduling and attending events, and filing baseless motions, increasing emotional and financial toll on all parties, especially the children (Bar Complaint against Mr. Davis, Docket #200, Page 5).
 - Lack of Candor Toward the Tribunal: Mr. Davis's failure to adhere to stipulated discovery deadlines, knowingly false allegations, and strategic trickling of documents to put off a court order demonstrate an intent to mislead the undersigned and the court about compliance and intentions, raising concerns under Rule 3.3 (Bar Complaint against Mr. Davis, Docket #200, Page 5).

- False Representations in Communications: Mr. Davis's interactions with the undersigned and prior counsel include false representations about discovery and intentions, in violation of Rule 4.1 requiring truthfulness in all communications (Bar Complaint against Mr. Davis, Docket #200, Page 5).
- Tactics to Embarrass, Delay, or Burden: Mr. Davis contravened Rule 4-4.4 by employing tactics whose primary purpose is to embarrass, delay, or burden, thereby obstructing access to critical financial information at the core of the dispute (Bar Complaint against Mr. Davis, Docket #200, Page 5).
- Unfairness to Opposing Party: Mr. Davis's strategic delays in document production, including failure to honor stipulated deadlines and selective, tardy disclosure of financial records, directly violate Rule 4-3.4 demanding fairness to opposing parties (Bar Complaint against Mr. Davis, Docket #200, Page 5).
- Dishonest and Deceitful Conduct: The facts reveal a pattern of misconduct under Rule 4-8.4, where Mr. Davis's actions are dishonest and deceitful, particularly in managing the discovery process, affecting the integrity of the case and prejudicially impacting the administration of justice (Bar Complaint against Mr. Davis, Docket #200, Page 5).
- Concealment of Assets: The crux is Wife's steadfast refusal to reveal financial holdings, including accounts where it is well known that marital income was deposited. Mr. Davis's pleadings consistently obfuscate or divert from these revelations, perpetuating the fraud requiring additional investigation.

10. This flagrant conduct violates Florida Bar Rules of Professional Conduct, including Rule 4-3.2 (requiring reasonable efforts to expedite litigation consistent with client interests), Rule 4-3.4 (prohibiting obstruction of access to evidence and fairness to opposing parties, such as unlawfully obstructing discovery or knowingly disobeying court obligations), and Rule 4-8.4 (barring misconduct involving dishonesty, fraud, deceit, or misrepresentation). Under Florida law, such violations warrant sanctions, including attorney's fees and costs, as seen in cases like Kozel v. Ostendorf 629 So. 2d 817 (1993), which outlines factors for imposing sanctions for discovery abuse, all of which are met here: willfulness, prejudice, and repeated noncompliance.

I.B. MISCONDUCT AND VIOLATIONS OF ETHICAL DUTIES FROM THE UNDERSIGNED'S FORMER LAW FIRMS

- Serial incompetence, lack of effort and responsiveness, elevating concerns for another attorney above the client, actions and inaction against client interest, and potential active collusion against their client were all part of Husband's experience pursuing what both law firms initially advised was a straightforward discovery issue.
 - Hodz Law Firm: Neglected to contest improper venue, tolerated baseless filings, and turned a blind eye to discovery abuses. Despite glaring misconduct, Hodz refused to escalate or preserve issues on the record. Hodz abandoned pleadings mid-preparation and fled the case entirely upon Mr. Davis's discovery stonewalling. The undersigned's grievances are memorialized in a demand letter to Hodz outlining misconduct and damage caused, attached below as Exhibit B, pp. 19-27).
 - Samarkos, Scott & HHD: Refused to issue a basic request for production despite explicit instructions at every consultation. They failed to safeguard objections, confront misconduct, and were bullied off the sole task for which they were hired—securing discovery. Their lapses, possibly in (implicit or explicit) cahoots with Mr. Davis and/or Judge Ayers, fueled Wife's evasion strategy, causing quantifiable damages. These issues are detailed in a demand letter to HHD delineating the facts and claims, attached as Exhibit C below, pp. 28-41).
10. These failures echo broader ethical lapses under Rules 4-1.1 (competence) and 4-1.3 (diligence), demanding scrutiny. Furthermore, the identical reaction from Samarkos and Hodz to conferences with Davis further exemplifies the systemic nature of the corruption at issue, similar to the 13th Circuit and the Florida Bar as explained below. Judge Ayers ultimate refusal to allow any evidence on the issue does not excuse their conduct which demonstrates that a litigant without legal experience would have no chance whatsoever of getting a fair result under Husband's circumstances.

II. DAVIS'S RECENT BULLYING TACTICS AND BLATANT MISREPRESENTATIONS NECESSITATING A FORMAL RESPONSE OVER HIS INABILITY TO SIMPLY ADMIT AND CORRECT A SECOND FALSE REPRESENTATION IN HIS AMENDED NOTICE OF HEARING

11. Mr. Davis brazenly demanded an "emergency" hearing for October 9, 2025, without articulating any exigency. He ignored reasonable queries essential for preparation for his proposed ambush hearing, especially amid the undersigned's concurrent appellate brief deadline.
12. Davis's conduct for the past week continues upon his familiar moves - to bully and overburden the undersigned due to the continuing failure for the Courts and oversight authorities to correct obvious, ongoing corruption.

13. Especially given the history of ethical violations, these latest tactics are quite concerning in their suddenness, lack of justification, and Davis's displeasure with a substantive response to precisely his question 2 days before expiration of the deadline he imposed.

14. Just in the last week, Davis has openly operated in bad faith without hesitation:

- Uncoordinated Scheduling: The undersigned proposed October 17, 2025—well within Mr. Davis's purported timeframe. He dismissed it and rammed through a unilateral date.
- False Representations x2: Mr. Davis lied about coordination efforts once more directly than the other, but each contradicted by irrefutable email chains attached to his "Response to objection."
- Davis booked the hearing prematurely, before the coordination window that he provided expired and refuses to consider a date Husband offered (within the time window he demanded) only 8 days after the unilaterally set hearing is set to take place.
- Rather than reveal the emergency, he forces the Court and the undersigned into more time and expense unrelated to anything true or productive.
- Intent to Inconvenience: The timing, coupled with inflammatory rhetoric, reeks of deliberate sabotage. His unchallenged September 27, 2025 email, flagged for deceit, went uncorrected.
- Mr. Davis doubles down on his lie about Husband declining to schedule. While Husband was not leaning toward coordinating the hearing without more information, there was never any declination as Davis alleged. Even forgiving his lies by omission in the second notice, it's still on its face, a misrepresentation.

13. Davis is so comfortable with his apparent right to practice dishonestly in the 13th Circuit, he signs off on the misrepresentation, multiple times, just assuming the Court will continue to excuse his misconduct.

14. This thuggish, entitled behavior exemplifies the toxic corruption culture in the 13th Circuit, meriting sanctions under Fla. Stat. § 57.105 for bad-faith filings.

III. JUDICIAL COMPLICITY IN MISCONDUCT

15. Judge Ayers has systematically enabled and amplified Mr. Davis's abuses through the following:

- Ignored intentional misconduct.
- Dismissed discovery violations without any basis, excuse or even explanation from Davis.
- Evaded the core discovery dispute that Wife and Mr. Davis desperately dodged since Husband's May 2024 filing desperately seeking help and efficiency on that singular issue and ever since (Docket #22).
- Displayed overt bias against the undersigned.
- Lumped Husband in admonishment over inappropriate emails, when Davis made a threat of violence amongst many less serious violations, while Davis was unable to identify a single inappropriate email from Husband.
- Falsely denied her bias on the record.
- Blocked access to video evidence that would expose her impropriety, despite her own, on the record threat/offer to provide the video.
- Elevated a meritless guardian ad litem motion over pressing financial discovery at the core of the case, Husband's single objective from the first filing in this matter.
- Allowed Mr. Davis to evade her own recent directive that he draft a summary supporting the GAL, despite Husband's insistence Davis comply with Ayers request.
- Ultimately excusing Davis from having to put anything in writing to support the GAL after Davis changed his mind about drafting it.

16. Rather than rectify errors, Judge Ayers has propelled Mr. Davis's agenda, refusing to curb abuse. This violates Canon 3 of the Florida Code of Judicial Conduct (requiring impartial performance of duties, avoidance of bias, and promotion of public confidence in the judiciary's integrity) and demands further investigation into abuses from the bench.

IV. SYSTEMIC FAILURE OF THE 13TH CIRCUIT

17. Since February 12, 2025, the undersigned has implored 13th Circuit leadership for intervention based on the corruptions and violations herein (see Docket #120).

18. The undersigned's letter to the Chief Judge detailed judicial bias, attorney deceit, and evidence suppression. Husband followed up with Courthouse leadership providing updates on the ongoing corruption including Judge Ayers's eye-rolling, dishonesty, dismissal of facts, law, and logic.
19. While Judge Ayers eventually disqualified herself, the Courthouse has continued to refuse access to materials that are likely to further explain the corruption that's plagued this case.
20. Attached as Exhibit D, pp. 42-49 below, the Court will find Husband's latest correspondence trying to obtain records relevant to 13th Circuit Corruption through the Public records act. Despite Judge Ayers bringing the video into the proceedings as a now critical fact, the 13th Circuit continues to deny access to the video Judge Ayers offered to provide, in open Court, on the Record. (Docket #198)
21. The Circuit's stonewalling is not negligence; it is an orchestrated cover-up, as further evidenced by the attached September 2025 email chain Exhibit D, pp. 42-49 below, where repeated, detailed requests for hearing recordings, communications, and other public records were met with evasive acknowledgments, unjustified delays, incomplete productions, refusals to confirm compliance, and failures to provide critical evidence like video footage—despite clear statutory obligations under Chapter 119, Florida Statutes.
22. This pattern of obstruction and non-responsiveness exemplifies the institutional effort to bury misconduct, necessitating external probes.

The parties came to this Court in May of 2024 with a successful 50/50 custody agreement, thriving children, and one singular point of conflict – this financial discovery. A year and a half later, we have:

- No resolution on discovery.
- Continuing attorney misconduct without repercussions.
- Active protection of Mr. Davis and Judge Ayers despite knowingly and intentionally violating Husband's due process rights with the goal of delaying and ultimately concealing relevant financial evidence.
- Children put in the middle of this conflict based 100 percent on lies and corruption pursued by Davis and allowed by Ayers.

- The 13th Circuit's ongoing attempts to conceal evidence related to the bias and corruption related to covering up and advancing Davis's misconduct include the following:
- Refusal to provide complete records, e.g., the omission of video evidence from the April 4, 2025, hearing, despite repeated requests and offers to clarify (Exhibit D, pp. 42-49) Failing to provide technical affidavits, system logs, or explanations for alleged unavailability of records, as specifically requested, in violation of transparency requirements under Chapter 119.
- Failing to confirm devices searched including personal devices that may contain relevant information.

21. To date, none of the arguments or pleadings have drawn any attention whatsoever from those with oversight.

22. Regardless of how much those in power want to avoid discipline for those guilty of violations, it cannot change what actually occurred and the damage it caused.

23. Review and oversight from all relevant agencies and bodies are imperative given the scale of corruption at issue.

24. The 13th Circuit's and now the Florida Bar's decisions to dismiss this obvious misconduct with such indifference to the children impacted demonstrates an urgent need for transparency and consequences in both of those institutions.

V. FLORIDA BAR'S COMPLETE FAILURE IN ITS OVERSIGHT RESPONSIBILITIES WITH A COMPLETE LACK OF TRANSPARENCY AND EFFORT TOWARDS ANY MEANINGFUL INVESTIGATION.

22. The Florida bar completely failed to follow its own rules in handling Husband's bar complaint against Mr. Davis resulting in dismissal of the complaint with no basis, alternative explanation for the conduct described in Husband's complaint, nor "engagement" of any kind. The dismissal is attached as Exhibit E pp. 50-51 below.

23. Husband's email chain through September 29, 2025, outlines Husband's frustrations with the many answered attempts to get updates and offer sworn testimony or additional evidence. (Exhibit F pp. 52-73 below).

24. It's obvious that the Florida bar and its representatives wanted to dismiss the facts at every step of the process, but again, all involved failed to offer any basis for the decision, nor the desire to dismiss the misconduct.

25. Despite several requests for information and offers of assistance from Husband, the investigation never included any interview or contact with Husband about the complaint.

- The formal bar complaint was filed on April 30, 2025.
- Even prior to that, Husband put Davis on notice of clear, unequivocal allegations of misconduct no later than December 13, 2024 (Docket #60, 72).
- Mr. Davis has never answered any questions nor explained away any of the allegations about his conduct relating to intentional delay, harassment, and dishonesty.
- Numerous unanswered follow-ups on the bar complaint, including offers for interviews, additional evidence, and detailed substantiation of claims.

24. The Bar's disinterest in holding Davis accountable for harmful ethical violations parallels the Circuit's obstruction, flouting its duty to police ethics despite clear violations.

25. This demands oversight from higher authorities. The Bar's preemptively dismissive attitude is evident in its abrupt closure of the complaint via a perfunctory letter dated September 24, 2025 (Exhibit E, pp. 41-42), which provided no substantive explanation, no reference to any investigation conducted, no contradictory evidence, and no rebuttal to the detailed allegations.

26. Despite the undersigned's professionalism, excellent reputation for honesty in the legal profession, and repeated offers to engage further through interviews or supplemental submissions, the Florida bar refused to even speak with Husband, the complainant, opposing attorney, and opposing litigant.

27. The cursory dismissal, without engaging the complainant or addressing the merits, underscores a systemic bias toward protecting insiders over upholding ethical standards. Specific instances of the Bar's misconduct include:

- Failing to engage with the complainant as required by Rule 3-7.3 (requiring review, processing, and involvement in complaint procedures, including allowing rebuttal to the accused lawyer's response), despite multiple follow-ups offering interviews and additional evidence.
- Failing to offer any explanation for the decision, in violation of Rule 3-7.3(a) (requiring notification to complainant of decision not to pursue with reasons) and Rule 3-7.4(k) (requiring letter report explaining why no probable cause), as the closing letter (Exhibit E) merely dismisses the complaints without elaboration or counter-evidence.

- Failing to offer any evidence or allegation that any of the undersigned's allegations were untrue or exaggerated, despite the Bar's investigative mandate under Rule 3-7.3, and ignoring the undersigned's strong reputation for integrity.
- Failing to respond at all to multiple inquiries, further violating Rule 3-7.1(e), and demonstrating a preemptively dismissive stance toward a diligent complainant.
- Failure to explain the review process and people involved, which is particularly egregious given that complainants have no formal appeal rights under Rule 3-7.4(i), but the Bar should clarify this limitation and failed to do so meaningfully.
- Sending a letter enclosing a new version that corrected an obvious typo in a prior version, without addressing substantive issues, nor ever providing Husband with the document he has requested – an enclosure sent to Davis and not Husband.

28. These failures compound the systemic rot, enabling unchecked attorney misconduct like we've seen from Davis the past week.

29. It becomes easier to understand how Davis, Ayers, and the others referenced herein were able to escape consequences for misconduct for so long after seeing the bar investigation progress.

30. If the Florida bar is willing to ignore such open, obvious, and unrefuted facts documenting corruption that harms children, why would any ambitious attorney follow the rules?

31. What will it take to protect Floridians from dishonest, unethical predatory attorneys like Scott Davis, and perhaps even more importantly, from all of those responsible for protecting Floridians, whose actions and inaction in this case demonstrate such a complete failure in their duties, that it's difficult to believe it's occurring through incompetence rather than corruption?

VI. REQUEST FOR INVESTIGATIONS AND SANCTIONS

29. The undersigned's requests are driven by profound concerns over violations of Florida law and ethical responsibilities of Florida attorneys. The evidence is strongly suggestive of active ongoing crimes (in addition to all of the procedural and ethical violations) involving marital asset disclosure violations under Fla. Stat. § 61.075 (requiring full and honest disclosure in equitable distribution proceedings, with nondisclosure constituting fraud actionable by the court), potential criminal collusion or conspiracy under Fla. Stat. §§ 843.01 (perjury) and 817.535 (unlawful filing of false documents), and RICO violations under federal law (18 U.S.C. §§ 1961–1968) and Florida law (Fla. Stat. §§ 895.01–895.06).

30. Judicial/attorney bias, collusion, and protection from consequences, rooted in personal or professional relationships, must not subordinate truth, due process, and the rule of law even if the goal is simply self-preservation.
31. All of those accused herein violated professional duties in a manner serious enough that consequences are necessary to dissuade similar conduct in the future.
32. These elements have not only perpetuated injustice but also endangered the children's welfare by prolonging instability and concealing resources critical to their support.
33. Two appellate cases remain with the Second District Court of Appeals, including a Writ relating to the mandatory disclosure/certificate of compliance. Husband's recent Motion for Rehearing, Clarification, Oral Arguments, En Banc Review, and/or Written Opinion (attached hereto as Exhibit G, pp. 74-82), underscores the trial court's blatant departure from the essential requirements of law on a core principle of Florida family, transparency.
34. Transparency is also paramount under Florida law when there are complaints of attorney misconduct and corruption. All undisputed facts, controlling statutes, and ethical mandates demand decisive intervention to halt the corruption—intervention that would compel discovery, sanction misconduct, and protect the children from further needless trauma. The en banc review is appropriate for this because it pushes the case towards transparency with a more formal review with additional Judges having the opportunity to review this course of conduct.
35. The undersigned submits that this is an extraordinary case and extraordinary remedies are appropriate including immediate sanctions based on the history described herein.
36. Husband sent Mr. Davis a sanctions letter back on December 13, 2024 (docket #60), but the continuing violations have occurred so quickly, only complicated by judicial involvement instead of resolved, that Husband has not been able to formally pursue the motion.
37. Husband is formally seeking sanctions against Mr. Davis based on that letter and the extreme nature of the violations and the relevant considerations on whether they require sanctions – intent, harm, pattern, etc.

VII. CONCLUSION AND SWORN STATEMENT

39. Husband sought legal intervention for a simple discovery issue. The dishonesty and conflict that infected this family since then could not occur without severe corruption from the attorneys and judge involved who have no concern for the people and kids their misdeeds impact.
40. All of this was unnecessary and contrary to the law and basic ethical requirements of attorneys.
41. This case exposes and highlights a corrosive nexus of attorney deceit, judicial partiality, and institutional cover-up that mocks the promise of justice under Florida law.
42. For a year and a half, these actors have conspired—whether through overt collusion or insidious bias tied to entrenched relationships—to conceal marital assets, obstruct discovery, and prioritize personal alliances over the unyielding demands of truth and equity.
43. The children suffer most: their stability, future security, and right to a fair resolution hang in the balance as assets, (and now the misconduct committed all along to hide the assets), are hidden and proceedings are weaponized for harassment.
44. The 13th Circuit's evasion of public records requests (Exhibit D, pp. 42-49), The Florida Bar's sham closure without scrutiny (Exhibits E and F, pp. 50-73), and the bench's refusal to address the core issue, per Davis's lead, are not isolated lapses but a deliberate subversion of the system, eroding faith in Florida's courts and enabling fraud on a scale that demands eradication.
45. The Court stands at a pivotal juncture: intervene now to mandate production of critical evidence like the April 4, 2025 video, impose sanctions that deter future abuse, and refer the case to oversight bodies including the Florida Supreme Court, the attorney General's office and potentially for Federal scrutiny.
46. None of the accused corrupt actors herein have ever disputed any of the allegations I'm made here or throughout the course of the case. As the record states, Husband has given all those accused of wrongdoing the opportunity to explain their conduct or any misunderstanding. The silence, given the record here, offers conclusive proof of the misconduct and the many attempts at covering it up.
47. Under penalty of perjury, pursuant to Fla. Stat. § 92.525, I declare that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Wherefore, the undersigned respectfully requests that this Court:

1. Impose sanctions against Wife and her counsel, Scott Davis, including attorney's fees, costs, and punitive measures pursuant to Fla. Stat. § 57.105 and Fla. R. Civ. P. 1.380, for their repeated misconduct, misrepresentations, and abuse of process;
2. Enter findings of fact on all alleged misconduct throughout the course of this litigation, including Davis's continued obstruction despite being on notice for nearly a year, and his most recent conduct—bullying, dishonesty, and strategic burdening of Husband to distract from the pending appellate brief;
4. Refer this matter for external investigation, including:
 - Referral of these issues to the Florida Supreme Court for review of systemic failures in ethical enforcement under the Rules Regulating The Florida Bar;
 - Referral of the matters discussed herein to the Florida Attorney General's Office for further investigation into institutional misconduct and public harm;
5. Transfer the case via to Pasco County,
6. Grant such other and further relief as the Court deems just, proper, and necessary to restore fairness, protect the integrity of the judicial process, and prevent further harm to Husband and the children.
7. If the Court is not inclined to offer Husband relief, the Court should leave the stay in place.

CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

I HEREBY CERTIFY that a true and correct copy of the foregoing has been furnished to all designated on e-service list on this 3rd day of October, 2025. Husband will also provide a copy of this motion to the Florida Bar and others mentioned, encouraging engagement and accountability.
